SATURDAY, SEPT. 21, 1889

Dead bodies of bears were found at 1000 a piece in Helena, Montana. The city council has no order to it.

The "Hub" may be a J. H. I. Sullivan to Congress. He wants to go and why shouldn't he, if he is Boston's representative man.

The Washington republicans know how to write a winning platform. They take strong ground for a tariff protecting western interests and for the entire exclusion of the Chinese. Washington will begin its career as a republican state.

CHAUNCEY DEWEY says that we must put up $20,000,000 if we are to have an exposition equal to the Paris show. As Chicago has strained every nerve to raise $2,000,000, and New York has raised nothing but wind, it will be seen that we are still deep in the woods with no clearing in sight.

COLUMBUS DELANO, President of the National Wool Growers' Association, on demand of the Ohio Wool Growers' Association, and, they say, because of dangers threatening the wool growing industry, has requested a delegate meeting of the wool growers to convene at Washington on the day when the next Congress convenes. He says, in his call, that the wool growers of the states and territories should be represented, and the names of delegates forwarded to his address as soon as appointed.

Every American nation has accepted the invitation of the United States to the congress to meet next month at Washington, except San Domingo, which is talking because the senate some time ago rejected a treaty which the San Domingans wanted. It has been stated, however, that the idea of the congress will be abandoned because San Domingo does not choose to participate. In fact were it not for this refusal there are many people who would not know that there was any such country as San Domingo.

One of the most horrible deeds in criminal history has been detected the other day in New Orleans. A negro barber held a white girl, aged 15 years, prisoner for a year to make her a victim of his dastardly desire. She was rescued by a policeman and the inhuman brute has been arrested. The poor girl, who has lost her reason was turned over to her bereaved parents, who did not know what had become of her. Slow burning at the stake would be to light a punishment for such a beast, whose name is Reed.

The high license law of Massachusetts is making a good showing for its first year. In sixteen out of twenty-five cities in that state the number of licenses has been reduced from 3,022 to 1,257, while the revenue from the saloons is increased nearly 50 per cent. In Boston the number of saloons has been reduced from 1,685 last year to 780 this year, while the revenue has been increased from $640,000 to $900,000. It also works equally well in keeping the saloons closed during prohibited hours and Sundays. Add to this the encouraging fact that the system is making friends for itself and the result is all that could be hoped for in one year.

In the case of H. N. Alexander, Attorney General for the Territory, against Thomas Hughes, Territorial Auditor, a plea in abatement was filed that Alexander was not Attorney General and hence could not maintain the suit. Judge Kibby has sustained the plea in abatement and hence the present suit must abate. In other words the suit is dismissed for want of jurisdiction in Alexander to maintain it in behalf of the Territory. This decision leaves the matter just where it stood before proceedings were begun, with the exception that Alexander is not Attorney General of Arizona. It is a case in which the hold over legal adviser of the Territory was hoisted by his own petard.

HON. ROBERT CONNELL, of Prescott, is quite anxious to see Arizona wear the robe of state, and predicts a most prosperous future for the new commonwealth. Now, Mr. Connell forgets the fact that Nevada was pretty much the same kind of a territory as this, and now they are strongly urging the proposition to extinguish her entirely, and annex her to Idaho and Washington. We have not enough taxable property or sufficient population.

NORTH AND SOUTH R. R.

Hon. Chas. Trumbull Hayden, one of the largest taxpayers of Maricopa County and a citizen of Tempe, in a letter addressed to Mr. J. M. Hurley, a railroad builder of San Bernardino, Cal., puts forth some very sensible and telling reasons why the north and south railroad should be built from this point. From his letter we take the following:

This line, built from Calabasas to Flagstaff, would control the influence of the Santa Fe transcontinental system of railways by utilizing their railway from Guaymas to Calabasas and side track to Tombstone, Bisbee and Benson, and producing an outlet for their coal and timber to the rich timberless valleys mines, extending all the way to Guaymas.

The competition produced by this line would control the influence of the great mines at Bisbee and Tombstone and all the properties in the San Pedro valley, and could utilize the subsidy already granted from Calabasas to Tucson and the road bed of the narrow gauge railway. Pinal and Maricopa counties should unite with all their power and influence in aiding the immediate completion of this railway, which would also utilize the 35 miles of the Mineral Belt railway completed, and 18 miles of road bed already made, together with its survey seventy miles from Flagstaff to where it comes out of the timber in a straight line to Strawberry flat, where the McDonald survey connects. The influence of Gila county would be secured in thus aiding to said county northern competition.

I enclose the preliminary examination of this route from Salt River to Strawberry flat at the edge of the timber, 70 miles from Flagstaff, in the Mineral Belt line of survey, made by one of the most experienced road makers in the Rocky mountains.—A. F. McDonald.

GOVERNOR WOLF BY DEFENSE.

The following was received at this office from Governor Lewis Wolfley with the request that it be published:

PHOENIX, Sept. 9, 1889.
To the Editor of the Phoenix Herald: I have heretofore refrained from taking notice of attacks on myself, either as an official or individually, but the recent misrepresentations of the Tombstone Epitaph and the Phoenix Gazette are of such a nature that they may mislead people. I herewith ask all fair minded people to read the official correspondence as published in the Herald of Sept. 7th, and the Gazette of Sept. 7th, before believing that I have "deliberately given out a lie." In justice to General Churchill I will say that he did not know of the letters I had written until after wards, nor did I ask his advice in relation to them.

The evening before writing the libelous editorials of the 7th and 8th inst., the editor of the Gazette, John Dunbar, admitted to me that he had no idea that we could gain admission under this Constitutional Convention. He also admitted to me that the lack of any control or limitation to the amount of expense that the convention might incur was a good objection to the convention and that the opinions of the Attorney General and Assistant Attorney General fully justified me in not calling the convention.

At that time I told said editor that before the trial of the Auditor case, I had fully advised Judge Kibby of all the objections that I had that I had related to the subject, including those referred to, believing that it was only fair to the Judge that he should know them.

In relation to my Louisiana life, I went there on commercial business in October 1865, and lived there until 1872, nearly seven years. During that time I was U. S. Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue from about April 1867 to September 1867, and U. S. Assessor of Internal Revenue of the New Orleans District from about August 1868 to April 1869, being about one year in all, and my record at the Treasury Department is first class as any one will find upon proper inquiry. General Grant having afterwards offered me the Supervisors of Internal Revenue of all the Southern States.

Except to vote I never took part in politics in Louisiana during the seven years I lived there. In justice to the gentlemen whose names have been dragged in as well as to myself, I will say that no man has contributed a dollar towards my expenses in connection with the Governorship.

To characterize the above editor I will only say that the man who privately professed to be a strong

Republican, yet daily grinds out ideas directly the reverse of his belief and daily attacks members of the party to which he claims allegiance, is fully equal to the libelous attacks referred to and the many others not before referred to. It is part of his business.

Thanking you in advance for the use of the Herald columns I remain, Very Respectfully,
LEWIS WOLFLEY.

It is not generally known, but it is a fact that the young ladies of Flagstaff have formed a combination and unless the young men are more liberal with their cash, they will have to go it alone. The following was aciently stumbled upon by us the other day:

"Whereas, We, the undersigned, believing as we do that we have not received the treatment from the young men of this town that we merited, have, with a view to self protection, mutual benefit and future welfare, organized ourselves into a body; and

"Resolved, First—That if we do not allow no young man to 'watch on' and accompany us from church, prayer meeting, ice cream suppers, entertainments, etc., who has not been out escort to such places.

"Second—That if we can not be 'tablecloth' we will not be 'dishrag'; in other words, we will not accept a card if we find or know that the sender has sent one to some other young lady previous to sending to us the same evening.

"Third—That we think the young men of this town display unbounded audacity and temerity when they accompany us to places where no cash is necessary, but conspicuously absent when something takes place which would necessitate going into their pocket-books.

"Fourth—That every member of this organization be furnished with a copy of these resolutions."

"Miss—, Secretary."
